2. [] His varied operational experiences, knowledge of current operational procedures (NOC and official), coupled with an outgoing personality, genuine sincerity, and the unique ability to relate to students have added considerably to the effectiveness of the courses.

3. [] can readily appreciate the burden placed on [] office while he is participating in these training programs. However, his positive influence on students' behavior in the areas of deportment and operational security practices overseas is invaluable. Therefore, [] wishes to continue to request his services for future courses.
